(a) Prior to 1933, farm labourers were included under agricultural farming, whereas at the 1933 Census they were classified to the industries in which they were engaged. (b) Prior to 1933, motor engineering and electrical engineering were included with manufacture of vehicles and production and supply of electricity respectively. (c) Includes workers engaged in motor engineering in 1911 and 1921. (d) Includes general labourers, industry undefined in 1911, 1921 and 1933. At the last Census their numbers were considerably increased as a result of the depression. (e) Workers engaged in electrical engineering, &c., and construction workers were not included in this sub-order at the 1933 Census. (f) The decrease at the 1933 Census was due to less shipping in ports on Census night. (g) At the 1921 Census retired civil servants were classified to their previous occupation. (h) Owing to change of classification, figures for 1901, 1911 and 1921 are not comparable with those for 1933. In the former Censuses, pensioners and independents were classified according to their previous industry if stated. (i) Includes 15,061 males and 7,710 females under 21 years of age who were unemployed at the 1933 Census and did not state their previous industry. This total also includes retired persons who at the 1921 Census were classified to their former industry if stated.
